DETOUR is a mentoring program for girls of color. Our mission is to increase access to education and employment opportunities for girls through our Focused And Naturally Confident Youth (F.A.N.C.Y.) Leadership programs (Expo, Leadership Academy, and Ambassador Internships).

LETTER FROM OUR FOUNDER & EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

As the Founder and Executive Director of DETOUR, I am proud to share that with more than 10 years of making an impact in the world, we're more eager than ever before to continue our mission to increase access to education and employment opportunities for girls of color. Our programs are specifically designed for teen girls of color and through them, myself, my staff, and our organizers work tirelessly to connect our girls to opportunities they deserve in higher education and priority-sector employment with livable wages.

Under my leadership, we have grown exponentially and have made an impact that has been formally recognized throughout San Diego County. Beyond our awards and distinctions, we are proud to have helped over 1,000 of girls stake their claim on their pathway to excellence.

In our first decade of service, our girls have excelled through our programming, going on to complete their college education, and in some cases pursuing volunteering/service-based learning opportunities and careers or coming back to work for DETOUR, embodying our culture of reaching back to pull the next generation forward.

Our passion and tenacity to meet changing needs through program innovation has given our girls new opportunities to strive, thrive, and live their lives in a way that is most meaningful to them. Our FANCY in STEAM Initiative grew quickly from a new STEAM FANCY Expotrack in 2016 into a year-round program to give girls of color the background knowledge, exposure, awareness of career pathways to pursue opportunities in a fast-growing sector.

As Founder and Executive Director, I promise to expand our proven track record of growth and development in a way that best reflects the interests of DETOUR girls, parents, educators, employers, and community.

We want our girls to know that the world is yours, and we are proud to show you how to reach out and grab it!

ORGANIZATION OVERVIEW

DETOUR is a 501(c)3 organization that has been uplifting, motivating, and inspiring girls for 10 years to become personally, academically, and professionally successful through education, empowerment, and the arts.

We've spent the last decade working hand in hand with teen girls of color to ensure they become personally, academically, and professionally successful by immersing them into a world of opportunity in education and career exploration, while also serving as their mentors and confidence builders. We energize our girls to chase their goals, whatever they may be.

FANCY AFTER SCHOOL

DETOUR mentors and teaches teen girls of color to be themselves while in grades 6-12 by exploring their self-identity, building their confidence, participating in career exploration/employment, volunteering/service-based learning, and completing a college education. We meet these goals through School and Community-Based FANCY (Focused and Naturally Confident Youth) Programs which function year-round and also support the annual FANCY Expo, FANCY Awards, and FANCY Scholarship.

School-Based Fancy programming involves educational workshops and activities in the schools. These activities create a safe space for girls of color to express themselves, ask questions, and build positive relationships with female mentors that can support their growth and development. This program serves as an early intervention and prevention opportunity to raise awareness and promote a greater understanding of health and social issues that affect girls in their communities. Programming can be offered through:

FANCY has helped me stay true to who I am and to put my confidence first in everything I do. Especially when I believed something was not for me or there were more qualified applicants, it helped me take risks I normally would not have. Confidence alone has gotten me further than my own knowledge because it's the first thing people notice and FANCY has instilled that in me."

Since attending college at Syracuse University. Tatiana has made the best of opportunities around her such as Interning in a forensic archaeology lab, tutoring at risk youth within Syracuse community, and being a design editor for one of the first black magazines on campus.

FANCY COMMUNITY BASED: FANCY TEEN GIRLS LEADERSHIP

The leadership program provides year-around programming to girls ages 11–17 interested in becoming leaders and giving back to their communities. Evidence-based workshops are based upon gender-specific curriculum surrounding life skills. Activities are conducted to increase engagement, provide a safe-space for self-expression and questions surrounding teen experiences, and to facilitate positive relationships with females that encourage growth and development.

SUCCESS STORY

Brittany Jasper

Brittany Jasper is a current sophomore studying Sociology and African-American studies at UCLA. Since entering college, she has served as both a member and outreach chair of the Afrikan Student Union's annual Higher Education Conference, the programming director of the Afrikan Education Project, as well as a Bruin Advisor with the Early Academic Outreach Program. While most of her undergraduate work has been geared towards the education realm, she plans to explore prison reform, social work, and Human Resources.

FANCY helped her unleash her potential and showed her the importance of taking advantage of every opportunity regardless of knowing the outcome. She is more sure of herself and more motivated to progress in her academic journey knowing that she can serve as an example to the young girls of color FANCY is continuing to help thrive and create fruitful futures for themselves. Brittany thinks about FANCY's impact on her life on a regular basis and feels she owes much of her success to the program.

We proudly teach and mentor teen girls of color to follow the beat of their own drum, to embrace their identities, build their confidence, and to be themselves through identity and career exploration exercises.

FANCY IN STEAM

In 2016, DETOUR added the STEAM workshop track within the FANCY Expo to increase the number of girls of color studying and working in STEAM fields.

By 2018, the success of that track led to the creation of a FANCY in STEAM initiative to provide girls in the Leadership program with year-round access to hands-on STEAM activities. Previous partnerships with local companies were expanded to bring even more opportunities for girls to explore technology through hands-on coding and virtual reality workshops and activities. Partners include:

A Caterpillar Company

SONY

STEAM jobs are fast growing and lucrative, but girls of colors face obstacles getting into the field including:

Cultural stereotypes in STEAM professions

Tania Lloyd

During the Sony Tour, the girls learned about the San Diego Game Jam, a 48-hour video game programming event hosted at the Art Institute. FANCY participant, Tania, became interested in Game Jam and participated with a team that went on to become a finalist in the competition. Tania graduated from high school in June 2019 and is now completing US college credits abroad while in Costa Rica.

ACTIVITIES AND HIGHLIGHTS

GENERAL ATOMICS (GA)

Education is FUN!

In January 2020, the FANCY girls experienced the fun of engineering through a competition to build the largest stable structure. This day of hands-on STEAM learning was led by GA female employees of color, educating and empowering the next generation of female engineers.

SOLAR TURBINES

In the Fall of 2020, Solar Turbines hosted nearly two dozen FANCY girls at their San Diego facility for a day of learning. Women of color staff led engineering workshops, hands-on activities, and a tour. A highlight for the girls was a lunchtime panel with women of color engineers who shared their path in STEAM and motivated the girls to follow their dreams.

ELEMENTARY INSTITUTE OF SCIENCE

One-Week Workshop

In 2019, FANCY girls were treated to a one of a kind STEAM experience at the Elementary Institute of Science. During their Fall Break, ten girls participated in a one-week, fun filled STEAM education camp. Girls explored multiple facets of STEAM careers through activities in 3D printing, Robotics, and Drones. The girls not only expanded skills, like coding, but they had experiences that boosted their confidence and interpersonal bonds.

FANCY AMBASSADOR INTERNS AND FANCY EXPO

Each year, high school girls in the FANCY Ambassador program receive stipends to plan and carry out the FANCY Expo.

100%

of Ambassadors gain essential project management and career skills

100%

The FANCY Expo is an annual, free event that hosts 200 girls between the ages of 5–22. Since 2011, the expo has brought together local professional women and community advocates to empower girls through seminars, panel discussions, and entertainment. Participants engage in discussion, interact with others to share their stories, and connect with community mentors and service providers.

OUTCOMES

Increased self-esteem, self-efficacy, knowledge, awareness, and guidance towards life purpose and direction.

Since 2010, nearly 2,000 girls have participated in Expo workshops and activities on topics including:

Surviving High School Surviv

Financial Education

DETOUR MENTOR PROGRAM FOR JUVENILE-INVOLVED TEENS

The DETOUR Mentor Program was created to help juvenile justice involved teen girls improve their self-awareness and self-esteem. The program run out of Kearny Mesa Detention Facility provides girls ages 13–18 with weekly educational groups, mentoring, and case management.

An average of 30 girls a month are served through 75 annual workshops. Girls participating in the workshops reported:

75%

Better problemsolving skills

77%

increase in selfesteem

69%

Better at expressing feelings

69%

ALL ABOUT GIRLS OF COLOR INITIATIVE

In 2018 we launched our All About Girls of Color Initiative with Gabriela B. Delgado, Director/Founder of Saving Our Starfish, which unites individuals passionate about youth equity and inclusion to reduce the exclusionary practices and marginalization of girls of color by providing training on current trends impacting them and evidence-based practices for supporting and engaging girls of color around these trends.

The project included a partnership with Monica Montgomery, City of San Diego District 4 Councilmember, to host a community screening of the PUSHOut: Criminalization of Black Girls by Monique Morris - raising awareness on issues pertaining to girls of color in education.

PROJECT CONCERN INTERNATIONAL

DETOUR also collaborates with Project Concern International to provide long-term mentorship in the community for justice involved girls to aid in their transition back into society. Youth Offender Unit (Y.O.U.) program mentors start bi- weekly visits with the girls in detention and continue those visits after their release.

Y.O.U. mentors are community members with diverse backgrounds including: business professionals, women in education, and those with lived experiences.

FANCY TEEN GIRL AWARDS

Since 2017, 32 girls have been recognized for their leadership and community service.

The FANCY Awards Scholarship Gala honors teen girls making a difference in their community through self-love, exceptional performance in school and extracurricular activities, volunteer work, creative efforts and unique projects.

Funds raised from this event directly support the annual Focused And Naturally Confident Youth ("F.A.N.C.Y.") Teen Girls Expo.

Ashea Brand - Shining Star Award

The Shining Star Award is a personal award geared towards celebrating a teen girl's creativity, unique style and abilities; an award that celebrates healthy selfesteem and self-confidence.

For me being in F.A.N.C.Y is an honor. Being able to be a part of something greater than myself and inspire the girls in my community to be the best versions of themselves is truly a blessing, and something I plan to continue throughout my life. F.A.N.C.Y has also shaped me into the young woman I am today by allowing me to build a sisterhood with the young women in the program, giving me the strength to embrace myself and grow as a person."

FANCY TEEN GIRL SCHOLARSHIPS

Since 2011, 45 FANCY scholarship awards totaling $14,300 have been given out

FANCY Scholarships are provided to girls in the program annually to support their educational goals. Girls are selected based on academic and non-academic criteria including:

June 20, 1983 — December 8, 2013

Janaha Ransome was the co-founder and a vital committee member of the F.A.N.C.Y. Teen Girls Expo, founded in 2010. One of her primary goals was to further her education and have a meaningful career path that would transform young lives. Janaha grew up in Southeastern San Diego, attending SCPA and Mt. Miguel High School before obtaining a Bachelor's Degree in Africana Studies from UCSD, and a Master's Degree in Public Administration from the University of Phoenix. Janaha transitioned from this life on December 8, 2013 and was granted an Honorary Doctorate Degree from Alliant, where she had been working on her degree at the time of her passing.

Within her lifetime she contributed to many youth through being an inspiration with an undeniable drive to change the world one milestone at a time. The F.A.N.C.Y. Teen Girls Expo Committee now honors Janaha's service through the "I'm F.A.N.C.Y. Scholarship" Program, in remembrance of her never-ending support and dedication to improving the lives of youth from underserved communities.
